JUST OUR OPINION

Run-Off Water Code
Enforcement Studied

Some two weeks have passed now since the Board of Public Affairs of the village of Jamestown published a village ordinance pointing out a fine of $50 per day may be imposed on anyone permitting water from a downspout, or other surface water or drain into a sanitary sewer.

But no one has started digging, we've noticed.

The purpose is to keep the new Jamestown Sewage disposal plant operating for the processing of sewerage. Everytime it rains, the plant is taxed near capacity--sometimes beyond--by the surface water which either seeps into or is intentionally routed into sanitary sewers.

The Board of Public Affairs was acting in good faith, we trust, when it issued the directive. The Village Council was acting in good faith, we trust, when it passed the ordinance.

That ordinance, of course, has been on the books for a number of years. It just hasn't been enforced too well. One reason is that it's a hard one to enforce.

You can imagine the difficulties of sending a man around to dig an every lawn in town to determine if the downspout, or a sump pump, outlet, goes into the sanitary sewer.

One of the easiest forms of enforcement, of course, is to check every new house under construction. You can find an offender quickly when the skeleton of construction is bare.

But, in catching the new builder, the enforcing agent unduly antagonizes him because that new builder realizes that several previously-built homes have the same set-up that he is being forced to correct.

In order to play the game fair, the Board of Public Affairs is going to have to work out a method of checking the older homes, too.

One way it to use ping-pong balls. You drop one down the downspout and have another man watching at the nearest manhole. If the ball floats by in the sanitary sewer, you have an offender.

It's not all that simple, certainly; but the Board needs to remember that any board of authority must treat all its constituents in a like manner.

There's sound reason for the law. Accordingly, it should be enforced soundly.

Girl Scout Movement
In Jamestown Needed

Jamestown has become a target for the Greene County Girl Scout Council--and for a couple of good reasons.

Or, maybe we should say bad reasons; the situation isn't good and needs some of the town's progressive thinkers to put through a worthwhile program for the benefit of the young girls here who need and deserve wholesome outlets for their energies.

In the first place, Jamestown is a county trouble spot from the Scouting angle simply because there is no Girl Scout movement active in the town. That's a situation which Jamestown residents must be wondering about after Cedarville just completed a celebration honoring Mrs. Wilma Reinhard, who brought Girl Scouting to that village 20 years ago.

During those 20 years that the Girl Scout movement has grown and progressed in the village of Cedarville, just what has Jamestown been doing? All appearances indicate squabbling has occupied more time than anything constructive.

Jamestown has a representative on the Greene County Girl Scout Council. But that representative apparently is not aware of some of the codes of Scouting.

That representative, in fact, informed the publisher of this newspaper that one reason Girl Scouting has not caught hold in this town is because the Girl Scout national policy prohibits inter-racial troops.

That's not true. Whether that statement was a misconception gleaned from others with the same thoughts or was a personal interpretation, the fact remains that the statement is flatly untrue.

Your publisher checked out information on this at great lengths--sure in his own mind from the start that the statement could not be the truth--and justified that thought.

Girl Scouts, on the contrary, encourage inter-racial troops on the solid-thinking theory that all races of man must eventually learn to cooperate. And when's a better time to start teaching that than when little girls' minds still are open and unclouded by the narrow opinions of their parents?

Parental opinions need not be narrow. There are those in this area who are above such antiquated views. And those are the people being sought out by the paid executive of the Greene County Girl Scout Council.

Those people will bring Girl Scouting to Jamestown and the program will accomplish what it is designed to accomplish.

But it may be some time. It may be some time before the opinions are ready to give way to fact.

FOR SKIN DIVERS...

CONSTRUCTION STARTED--A supervisor of the Charles Winston Construction Co. of Cedarville goes over plans for the $40,000 skin divers' clubhouse now under construction at the abandoned stone quarry southwest of Cedarville. The elaborate clubhouse will cantilever over the lake. Completion of the project is expected this summer.

Wilma Reinhard Is
Lauded at Cedarville

Several hundred persons turned out Saturday for Wilma Reinhard Day in Cedarville. The parade, itself, included some 250 persons.

All were members of the Girl Scouts, Cub Scouts, Legionnaires, Auxiliary, Lions, Fire Department and

Mayor Warns
Bicycle Riders
To Take It Easy

Mayor Floyd E. Smith this week warned that the village's ordinance prohibiting bicycle-riding on the sidewalks will be enforced unless the town's small fry shows more caution.

"We hate to push them out into the street," Mayor Smith said "But they're going to have to slow down or someone is going to get hurt the way they ride on the sidewalks."

75 at Annual
Cedar Cliff
FFA Banquet

Seventy-six attended the parent-son banquet of the Cedar Cliff Future Farmers of America this week at Cedarville. Honorary FFA degrees were presented to Lauris Straley, father of last year's state farmer William Straley, Ben Beard of Bowersville and Tom Harner of Cedarville.

Ralph Harner, vocational teacher, gave the invocation and Harold Powers, chapter vice president, gave the welcome. The FFA creed was presented by Philip Fields, Lester Ferguson, Roger Bullen, John Pyle and Roger Dobbins.

Others participating in the program included Jack Marshall, Lamar Spracklen, Raymond Nance, Ralph Harner, Cedar Cliff Supt. of Schools Robert O. Impson.

the Cedar Cliff High School Band--all organizations which Mrs. Reinhard has aided during her 20 years of community service in Cedarville.

She formed the first Cedarville Girl Scout troop in 1937. Many honors were heaped upon the head of Cedarville's most active civic worker during the special ceremonies. The community presented her an orchid. Mrs. Marvin Birch, executive director of the Greene County Girl Scout Council, gave her the 20-year-pin in Girl Scouting.

Mrs. Harold Spitler, retiring neighborhood chairman in Cedarville, presented a Thank You pin to Mrs. Reinhard, on behalf of the Cedarville troops. Only two other persons in the county have these pins given in recognition of service. The nine troop leaders and all Girl Scouts present were recognized by Mrs. Spitler.

A sterling silver coffee pot and tray were presented by Mrs. Raymond Williamson, chairman of the Community Appreciation Committee. From Mrs. Reinhard's troop, she received a floral arrangement in a ceramic container, specially made for the occasion and painted by the Senior Girl Scouts. Mildred McCallister, a member of the Senior Scout Troop, made the presentation.

Greeneview Spring
Concert Is May 10

The annual Spring Concert of Greeneview Schools will be held at 8 p.m. Friday, May 10, in the Greeneview South auditorium.

The Music Department's presentation will feature the high school chorus, the high school band, the junior band and the elementary band.

Shaw Freed
On Assault

Robert Thomas Shaw, New Jasper, has been freed.

Originally indicted for second degree murder in the death of his step-father Jan. 27, Shaw was given a suspended six-month jail sentence. Common Pleas Judge Dan M. Aultman of Greene County also suspended court costs.

Shaw had been in jail 90 days under $500 bond following the death of his step-father.

Following the second-degree murder indictment, Shaw won a reduction of charge of manslaughter during trial. The jury then further reduced the charge

Bill Is Backed

Ohio's House of Representatives' Conservation Committee came forth Wednesday with a go-ahead recommendation on the $500,000 bill to start a lake near Jamestown. The bill now goes to the House Finance Committee.

Greeneview
Fete Draws
200 Persons

Nearly 200 persons attended the annual Greeneview Athletic Banquet last week and awards were presented to both junior high and varsity athletes, along with cheerleaders.

Awards covered football, baseball, basketball and track. Lefty McFaden, Dayton television personality, was guest speaker.

The banquet was sponsored by the Parent-Teacher Organization. Mrs. Ralph Lovett was in charge of the food committee, Mrs. Lelia Faulkner and Mrs. Regina Reid handled table decorations. The program was under the direction of Mrs. Keith Johnston and Mrs. Margaret Jean Pendry. Flowers were donated by Ary's florists.

Serving was in charge of Mrs. Octavia Taylor and her home economics department group.

Clinton Tractor Sales

Shop and Field Service

In this section of the county Ford Tractors and Dearborn implements are sold and serviced by Clinton Tractor Sales, Inc.

Ford Tractors and Dearborn farm machinery are ideal for every type of farming. They are the most versatile, easiest of operation and fuel consumption in the industry. And because they can be operated more economically and still produce the maximum results, they are the most profitable power and machine units in the field today. Ford Tractors have a vast reserve of power for any emergency. They burn all standard types of tractor fuel and the low center of gravity makes them the safest power units in the field when conditions necessitate their use every sloping froug. Their universal acceptance by farmers and growers everywhere is the best testimonial to their satisfactory operation.

When next you visit Wilmington, see the Ford-Dearborn equipment now on display at Clinton Tractor Sales, on Route 1 in Wilmington. Phone 2352.

Thompson's Super "E" Market

Popular With Housewives

Feeding the family is one of the most important items in the management of every household and increasing cost have made the housewife a thrifty shopper. One store that has come to her assistance is Thompson's Super "E" Market. Housewives are rapidly learning that there are many advantages in looking to Thompson's for their foodstuffs. While prices are invariably low, quality always remains the very best.

Through the straight forward policies always in force by Thompson's and their untiring efforts to give the customers the utmost in value, they have established a large following which steadily grows as more and more people learn of the advantages of obtaining food needs from Thompson's Super "E" Market at Sabina. ## Strean's Jack and Jill

Specialty Shop For The Child
From Tot To Teen

This shop for the lad and lassie is well known throughout this community and has become a favorite shopping spot for our papers readers. Mr. and Mrs. Joyce have made a real effort to stock the kind of clothes which just fill the bill for young people. They carry a large enough variety so that if it's something for school from mom and dad or a gift from someone near and dear, they can find what they need.

We are pleased in this review to recommend this shop to our readers, knowing that they will be pleased with the quality and wearability of things purchased here.

To meet the demands of the growing girls, this shop is opening a Junior-Hi Department to be ready for school this fall.

The next time you are in Wilmington, stop in and see what's new in children's wear. See how quality pays in school and at play. They are located at 59 W. Main, Phone 2423.

Dale Wright, a well-known disc-jockey and entertainer from WING will furnish this program. This will be followed by a breakfast in the cafeteria.

Tucker.

Mr. and Mrs. Tom Sanders had as their guests Sunday Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Ellis and children of Route 1, Wilmington.

Mr. and Mrs. Charles Ford and family had as their guests Sunday Mr. and Mrs. Gordon Forrester and two sons of Cincinnati, Miss Peggy Goodbar and Bonnie Smith of New Jasper.

A/1c Gary Rogers has returned to his base at Arlington, Va., after a 10-day furlough spent with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Harley Rogers.

Jamestown Bus Flames on US Route 35 Trip

Fast-acting Philemon Caplinger, a driver for the Dayton and Southeastern Lines, Inc., of Jamestown, was credited with averting tragedy when a bus of that line caught fire last week near Pleasant Valley on U. S. Route 35.

The bus, which had just been refueled with 100 gallons at Chillicothe, became a holocaust and backed up traffic for a mile and a half. Flames melted utility wires along the highway.

Caplinger's attention was called to the fire by a passenger who smelled smoke. He found a fire in the engine, at the rear of the bus, led 16 passengers to safety and called firemen.

Timberlake Death Comes Friday at 74

Frank Timberlake died Friday at the Lively Nursing Home in Jamestown. He was 74. A native of Jamestown, Mr. Timberlake had been in failing health several years. He was born here June 27, 1882, the son of Rufus and Elizabeth Sessler Timberlake and had been a lifelong resident.

Surviving are four sisters, Mrs. Ray Williamson, Mrs. Harry Miller and Mrs. Frances Carter of Jamestown and Mrs. Ella Sutton of Xenia.

Services were held Monday at the Powers Funeral Home with burial in Jamestown cemetery.

raised the Purina "Fast Start" way...

825 "borrowed" pigs gain 1<sup>2</sup>/<sub>3</sub> pounds a day

Last year Purina Dealers "borrowed" a total of 825 pigs from hog farmers in their neighborhoods. They fed them for four weeks in their stores... on Purina Pig Startena. Here is the record those pigs made:

Average starting age..... 5 weeks
Average starting weight..... 25 1/2 lbs.
Average weight at 9 weeks..... 64 1/2 lbs.
Average daily gain..... 1 2/3 lbs.
lbs. pork per 100 lbs. Startena..... 55 1/2 lbs.

When pigs are only a few days old it's time to start crowding them to make the cheap gains and growth that usually mean extra profit on market day. A sure way to do this is to start pigs on Baby Pig Chow... proved by research... proved in the feedlot. It takes only one 50-lb. bag per litter. Then switch to Purina Pig Startena through weaning. You should have little trouble beating our "borrowed pig" record. Put Baby Pig Chow and Pig Startena to work for you. These "Fast Start Twins" give pigs what they need for fast growth... plus high-level antibiotics for health protection. Stop in at our Store with the red-and-white Checkerboard Sign and see our "borrowed pig" demonstration. Then place your order for Baby Pig Chow and Pig Startena.

Baby Pig Health Hint—Purina Pigemia is a brand-new health aid to prevent or treat nutritional anemia in suckling pigs. If your pigs are confined to concrete or wood floors, be sure to get a handy squeeze bottle of Purina Pigemia at our store. A few squirts every other day on the sow's udders (about one tablespoonful per sow) will protect 30 pigs for the first three critical weeks.
